Dear Janine and Pazi,

Because it has happened so spontaneously, I shall always remember - now the way we have enjoyed ourselves this evening - due to your generosity which made us each come alive

I would also like to thank you because it has renewed in me very good memories of the past, which were buried, but not forgotten - of your warmth and hospitality, and the sunbunt colors of your studio, the rafters of your Louis Treier(?) room and the wood furniture and report on the table, Tainier collaps — None of this you see, was forgotten.

I liked your new canvases more than the old ones we had seen. As Tainier remarked "at last the sun is coming out".
(I mean the colonies).

Of course it is presumptuous to say anything much in the space of hours, to believe one could come to an understanding that in any sense matches the profundity of your vision.

Bombay you will find, is not a village. People willy nilly will react, and they will love you
